

APPLICATION FOR JUNIOR MEMBERSHIP

Junior membership of the Institute may be awarded to applicants between ages of 13 and 18 years old who have an interest in science and technology. No qualifications are required for this grade of membership. Junior members will be allowed to attend any of the Institute's General Meetings and some member events, but would not have voting rights or be able to use any designatory letters after their name. They would not receive a hardcopy of the twice yearly Journal; however, they would have password access to the Institute's website in order to view copies of the Journals online. They would also be able to write or email the Institute for career advice.

The Institute of Science & Technology (IST) will encourage Juniors to form into Groups within their school or area. The IST will also endeavour to arrange meetings and talks especially for Juniors.
